Once you have mastered the spiralled hand held technique for making bouquets the world is your oyster. Why? Because not only can you create an infinite number of styles and designs for wedding and event bouquets but you also can add them to a vase for a stunning table arrangement that requires no floral foam.

Not only does this method save time it also saves money as you need no other mechanic but your hand to create them. The florists from the Czech Republic, as well as Mila and myself (in the optional streaming video) show you how it is done in this very special edition of floral design.

Show this issue to your brides and let them choose their favourite style, colours, and flowers as you introduce them to contemporary floristry.

Have fun!
Happy arranging
